Textbook: This course does not require a textbook. On Canvas you can find curated reading for the course, all online and free and organized by topics in the order we will go through them, that will get you through the course. However, if you prefer one the book listed on page 1 of this syllabus will assist you in following along. It is a free online textbook, and the link to the text is available via the course Canvas page.

Exams: The exams will be primarily essay-based. They will be conducted at the regular class time, and will be proctored using Canvas. We will not be using any sort of lockdown browser. A review for each exam will be made available.

Written assignments: You will be submitting 3 written assignments throughout the semester (the due dates for each are clearly noted in the semester schedule), each covering major themes and issues covered in the textbook and the classroom. In each of these assignments, you will argue/take a side on an issue. All writing assignments will be submitted electronically, via Canvas. You will be issued topics/prompts at least one week before each writing assignment is due. Length will range from 2 – 4 pages, double spaced, 12 point font.

Turnitin: Your writing assignments will be submitted via Turnitin. Some of you might be familiar with this program. Turnitin is used as a plagiarism checker. Although it is often used to catch plagiarism after the fact, I prefer to use Turnitin as a teaching tool. If you submit drafts of your papers BEFORE they are due, you will have the opportunity to revise areas of your paper where you might be unintentionally plagiarizing sources and/or not citing them correctly. We will discuss this further in class before the due date of your first written assignment.

Participation: Your participation in this exercise counts for 15% of your total grade. Throughout the semester, there will be 3 participation assignments. We will be discussing this further in class. You will not be required to speak in class.

Course Policies:

Attendance policy:

- Regular, punctual attendance is required per the Pensacola State College Catalog. To be clear: if you miss more than 3 classes this semester you are considered excessively absent. Refer to the explanation of Excessive Absences in the current catalog for more information.
 - Tardiness and leaving class early may be converted to absences.
 - If a student is excessively absent—exceeds more than 3 absences—each additional absence will result in a 10% penalty of your total grade.
 - If a student comes into the class session after the instructor has taken roll, it is the responsibility of the student to see the instructor at the end of class to request that his/her attendance status be updated.
- Class disruptions, including but not limited to persistent talking while the instructor or another student is speaking, could result in your being asked to leave the class.
 - College policy disallows visitors in the labs or classrooms.
 - PSC's no smoking policy includes a ban on e-cigarettes even in Live Online format.
 - If you are asked to leave class for violating class policies, you will be counted absent from class and may not be allowed to make up work from that day. Before returning to class, you must meet with the instructor and/or the Director of Student Conduct.
 - Late work will be accepted under special circumstances, but points will be taken off.
 - Student Perception Surveys – EvaluationKit: During the term, you will receive a notification in PirateMail and/or Canvas with a link to EvaluationKit, the online evaluation system used by Pensacola State College. Please take advantage of this opportunity to provide anonymous feedback to your instructors about their courses. Your opinions are valuable, and your evaluations enable instructors to assess their teaching style and help them decide what changes to consider in curriculum, textbooks, or assignments.
 - Flexibility Statement: It is the intention of the instructor to accomplish the objectives specified in the course syllabus. However, circumstances may arise which prohibit the fulfilling of this endeavor. Therefore, this syllabus is subject to change. When possible, students will be notified of any change in advance of its occurrence.
 - If you miss a day in class, first consult your syllabus, and then get with a classmate for any notes you might need. Do not email me with “what did I miss?” or “did I miss anything important?” While I will be happy to answer any specific questions you might have, after you have consulted with classmates about getting notes, I will not redeliver entire lectures in response to “what did I miss?”
 - Academic Dishonesty Statement: Pensacola State College is committed to upholding the highest standards of academic conduct. All forms of academic dishonesty, to include plagiarism and cheating, are prohibited. Penalties for academic dishonesty include but are not limited to one or more of the following: the awarding of no credit on the assignment, a reduction in the course grade, or the assignment of a final course grade of F and removal from the course. See the College Catalog for more details.
 - Student Email Accounts: Pensacola State College provides an institutional email account to all students enrolled in courses for credit. PirateMail is the official method of communication, and students must use PirateMail when communicating with the College. In cases where companion software is used for a particular class, email may be exchanged between instructor and student using the companion software.
 - Flexibility: It is the intention of the instructor to accomplish the objectives specified in the course syllabus. However, circumstances may arise which prohibit the fulfilling of this endeavor. Therefore, this syllabus is subject to change. When possible, students will be notified of any change in advance of its occurrence.
 - ADA Statement: Students with a disability that falls under the Americans with Disability Act or Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, it is the responsibility of the student to notify Student Resource Center for ADA Services to discuss any special needs or equipment necessary to accomplish the requirements for this course.

Upon completion of registration with the Student Resource Center for ADA Services office, specific arrangements can be discussed with the instructor.

- Equity Statement: Pensacola State College does not discriminate against any person on the basis of race, ethnicity, national origin, color, gender/sex, age, religion, marital status, pregnancy, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, or genetic information in its educational programs, activities, or employment. For inquiries regarding Title IX and the College's nondiscrimination policies, contact the Executive Director, Equal Opportunity Compliance at (850) 484-1759, Pensacola State College, 1000 College Blvd., Pensacola, Florida 32504.
- Security Statement: Pensacola State College is committed to encouraging all members of the College community to be proactive in personal safety measures. In case of emergency, students should ensure that they are aware of the building exit closest to each of their classrooms, as well as all alternative building exits in case circumstances require using a different route.
- Emergency Statement: In the case of severe weather or other emergency, the College administration maintains communication with appropriate state and local agencies and makes a determination regarding the cancellation of classes. Notices of cancellation will be made through the College's PSC Alert system and on the College's website.

This class will be conducted under the regulations defined in the Pensacola State College Code of Student Conduct in the College Catalog.
